The Citadel Fund Announcing A New Annual Giving Program

Article contributed by: Joy Simpson, Director of Major Gifts

In reassessing the ever-increasing needs of The Citadel, a new annual giving program entitled The Citadel Fund has been launched. The Citadel Fund offers every member of the college's collective family an opportunity to have an immediate impact on campus priorities that support an enrich students' educational experiences and campus life in general.

By making an unrestricted gift to The Citadel Fund, donors can address the most urgent needs of The Citadel and give the college the flexibility to help underwrite its most critical objectives. Your tax-deductible gift to The Citadel Fund provides much needed support for areas such as:

- Scholarships and financial aid
- Educational programs
- Daniel Library collections and many more.

The pursuit of excellence in education mandates that we look beyond our current resources to realize the vision to establish The Citadel as the Pre-eminent College of Principled Leadership Education in America. Tuition alone cannot cover rising educational costs, and assistance from the state provides only a portion of the college's operational budget. The Citadel Fund helps keep the costs of tuition more affordable for the young men and women the college serves.

To expand participation in The Citadel Fund, TCF has also implemented on-site phone-a-thon program. Upper classmen from the Corps of Cadets will be calling alumni, parents, and friends of the college, to give them an opportunity to be a part of The Citadel Fund. Parents should be receiving their phone calls in the late fall. If you receive a call from one of our cadets, we ask that you take time to speak with them about this very important effort.

Ways of Giving to The Citadel Fund

In addition to making gifts of cash (including checks), gifts may also be made to The Citadel Fund by credit card. This will enable the cardholder to receive any other benefits provided by the card company, such as frequent flyer miles. The Citadel Foundation now accepts American Express and Discover in addition to Visa and Mastercard. For the convenience of our donors in making credit card gifts, a new online giving component has been added to The Citadel Foundation website. If you would like to make a gift online, please visit us at www.citadel.edu/tcf.

Another convenient way to make your annual fund gift is through electronic funds transfer (EFT). You may arrange for your gift to be deducted from your bank account on a monthly basis. This allows you to make a gift on a regular schedule without having to receive reminders. Please contact the Foundation to have an EPT form mailed to you.

Securities, like stocks, bonds, and mutual funds, often provide greater tax benefit to the donor than a gift of cash. Please call the Foundation for information on stock transfer procedures, if you choose this method of making your annual gift.

And do not forget about corporate matching programs. Many companies will match the contributions that employees (possibly even retired employees or spouses) make to philanthropic and educational groups recognized by the IRS. You can double—sometimes triple—your gift through matching gift programs. Check with your company's personnel or human resources office about their matching gift program.

For more information on The Citadel Fund or making a gift to the college, please contact Nancy Hellstrom, Director of Campaign Services, of the The Citadel Foundation. (1-800-233-1842 or (843) 953-1411 or hellstrom1@citadel.edu). Thank you for helping to keep The Citadel strong.

Reflections ~ yours & mine!

Marsha Clayman, Editor

"If I ruled the world". Great song. We may never hold a position to rule the world but we each have a choice in how we rule our own worlds. August 17, 2002 was my third matriculation day at The Citadel. I watched as parents said their good-byes; sitting under the flagpole, sitting on the shaded benches under those huge trees that line the parade field, sitting in their cars, or just walking around and gaining the composure to say just the right words of encouragement that would stay in their new "knob's" mind—at least for the remainder of the day. First, as parents, we have to remain brave and believe that by providing our son or daughter the opportunity to experience this unique education, we have already begun the process of making the world a better place. We need to push them in the right direction and rely on our faith and trust so that the strength, stamina, and determination will endure and they will reach that long gray line

Congratulations parents, keep up the great work!

Always interested in receiving your own "reflections" about your journey through these Citadel years.
